THE STRIKE SETTLEMENT

There Was Rejoicing in Every Quarter of Carbondale Yesterday and There Were Abundant Evidences of Restored Confidence.

When The Tribune reached its readers in Carbondale yesterday and conveyed the good news that the coal strike had been settled, there was joy in many a household throughout the city. As the day grew and the news spread until every one learned the latest development in the situation, the spirit of rejoicing took hold of every one and was manifested at every turn.

The streets during the day were filled with a greater number of miners than almost any day since operations were suspended. It was a great relief to all and every one's mouth was filled with words of satisfaction and joy.

In the afternoon there was a noticeable influx of drummers, salesmen who had not been in this community in weeks, but whose custom it was before the strike to visit carbondale frequently. The hotel registers showed names that had not been written in a long time, and storekeepers shook hands with smiling, jolly drummers whom they had almost forgotten.

The atmosphere of gaiety that the good news of settlement being at hand had begun to restore confidence. Several drummers were heard to express themselves at the hotels in the evening that merchants who could not be approached before for orders for winter goods, had no hesitation yesterday to place orders and generous ones at that. Among the town's merchants the universal opinion was, "Well, we'll have a good fall and winter now." It was most refreshing to observe this indication of restored confidence. Everybody looks forward to an exceedingly prosperous season.

Carbondaleans, above all others in the anthracite region, can derive the greatest satisfaction from the peaceful conditions that prevailed while the strike was on. This was a model town. There was not the least disturbance, nor was there even a suspicion of disorder, or even a spirit of unrest. Even when the outlook was darkest, the miners here were as tranquil as a model Sunday school scholar. As it was aptly said by Mayor O'Neill, in his talk at the miners' meeting last week, everything in Carbondale "was as quiet as a Sunday afternoon." We had no soldiers here, because there was no need of them, and we had not even a force of coal and iron police. Now, more than ever, have carbondaleans abundant reason to glory in the fair name of their city.

OH! PING PONG!

Lawyer and Newspaper Man Show How to Play the Game.

Whatever fears there were that the sport of ping pong would not become popular in this city have been swept aside, and the game is here to stay, unless the ping pong factories shut down.

This net was established on Wednesday afternoon, by a tournament held in the Carbondale cycle club house on Church street. And it remained for representatives of two professions, the law and journalism, to win the glory. Attorney H. C. Butler and J. Norman Gilder are the two. Their skillful playing and the intense, almost exciting interest of the tournament, demonstrated that the joking indulged in about ping pong is not quite far-fetched. The funnier men, both on the wings and in the center posts who have to go way back now, when they come to bid about ping pong. The day of this meeting has been in Carbondale at least, and a fun day he expected on the stores where ping pong sets are on sale.

There were five games played by Messrs. Butler and Gilder. Each won two, then the fifth was played, but it wasn't a finish fight, so honors are even. Some going-on in the ping pong line can be looked for at the Cycle club from henceforth.

HOT TIME.

Clash on Powdered Sticks Over a Wash Boiler.

There was a stormy time in the store of Chum Yemennett, on Powdered street, yesterday forenoon. When the storm was over and the calm came,

JUST COMMON SENSE. Changed the Whole Thing.

"I used coffee all my life until two years ago, when I was forced to discontinue it," writes a lady from Memphis, Tenn. "My health became so wretched that life was almost burden."

"I suffered almost continuously with nervous headache, dyspepsia and excruciating pains in my back. My heart action was very feeble, and I suffered intensely from suffocation or depression. Was extremely emaciated and debilitated, and so nervous that the slightest exertion or excitement would produce very distressing symptoms. My physician pronounced my trouble nervous, hysterical, and could give very slight relief."

A friend urged me to stop drinking coffee and my Postum Co. Coffee and coffee—the results. My first trial was not satisfactory, owing to the indifference of the cook, but the next time, she followed directions carefully, and I found it decidedly good. After using it about two months, I awoke to the fact that my bad symptoms had almost totally disappeared, and that my health was better than it had been for six years. I had no headaches; my heart troubled me only at rare intervals; could eat with perfect impunity; gained flesh, and was generally much stronger than formerly."

"I had discontinued medical treatment when I began to use Postum, and common sense supports me in the conviction that Postum alone was the curative agent in my case. My children are quite fond of it, and I take comfort in the thought that in Postum they obtain both food and drink and run no risk of injury to their digestive organs. No one has healthier children than I, and that alone is sufficient to prove its value." Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich.

Sleeplessness

results in debility, lack of energy, makes you dependent and nervous.

No wonder, when you think how your nerve force has been taxed beyond its limit, you have worried until your digestion is ruined and your whole system has become deranged. These are times when the overwrought system needs assistance.

DUFFY'S PURE MALT WHISKEY

will bring you refreshing sleep, and you will become full of energy and vitality. It cures nervousness and indigestion, gives power to the brain, strength and elasticity to muscles and richness to the blood. It is a promoter of health and longevity. Makes the old young, keeps the young strong.

COULD NOT SLEEP—GAINED 35 POUNDS.

Gentlemen—Six weeks ago I commenced taking your Duffy's Malt Whiskey. Previous to that time I was completely run down in health from want of sleep, poor appetite, and weighing only 121 pounds. Since then my restoration to health has been wonderful. I now weigh 153 pounds, sleep well and have a good appetite. I never felt better in all my life. I have recommended your whiskey to several of my friends, and they have used it with like result.—Louis Ward, 234 Division St., New York.

Caution.—When you ask for Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey be sure you get the genuine. Unscrupulous dealers, mindful of the excellence of this preparation, will try to sell you cheap imitations and so-called Malt Whiskey substitutes, which are put on the market for profit only, and which, far from relieving the sick, are positively harmful. Demand "Duffy's" and be sure you get it. It is the only absolutely pure malt whiskey which contains medicinal, health-giving qualities. Look for the trade-mark, "The Old Chemist," on the label.

The genuine at all druggists and grocers or direct, $1.00 a bottle. It is the only whiskey recognized by the government as a medicine. This is a guarantee. Valuable medical booklet containing symptoms and treatment of disease and convincing testimonials sent free to any reader of the Scranton Tribune, who will write Duffy Malt Whiskey Company, Rochester, N. Y.

The mirthfuls were solemnized at noon at the quarry's apartment at the pleasant home, which the groom's parents occupied for himself and his bride. Rev. Robert E. Pierce, D. D., pastor of the Penn Avenue Baptist church officiated. The music of the march from Lohengrin preceded the bridal procession to the prettily decorated parlor, where the couple were plighted in the presence of the near relatives and a few close friends, whose well-wishes were freely expressed for the young couple.

The maid was Miss Mabel Lowry, daughter of Dr. W. J. Lowry, of this city, a cousin of the groom. The groom's best man was Harry Reisman, of Scranton.

The bride and her maid were elegantly dressed in white. The bride wore white mouseline de soie and she carried brilliant roses. Her only headgear was a chiffon bow. Miss Lowry's gown was white French muslin. She carried pink roses and wore a chiffon bow for her decoration.

The reception and luncheon followed, with many pleasant incidents. At 2:30 the bride and groom left over the Lackawanna line for New York city. They will also visit in Albany, N. Y., before returning. After November 1, they will be at home at 49 Quinney avenue, Scranton.

The day was blessed with generous contributions, and it is a source of the greatest satisfaction to be re-assured, like this, from time to time, that there is such widespread and deep-seated interest in this splendid charity of which Carbondale can feel proud. The good that the hospital does cannot be measured in words, but its happy evidences are on every hand.

The contributors to whom the thanks of those connected with the hospital are acknowledged, are as follows:

Coming Nuptials.

An interesting announcement of a coming nuptial ceremony is the marriage of Miss Mary Bryson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. Bryson, of Salem Avenue, and Charles Humphrey, son of Select Councilman D. W. Humphrey and Mrs. Humphrey. The ceremony will be performed in the First Presbyterian church.

The news of the nuptials will be most pleasantly received among a wide circle of friends.

A DELIGHTFUL "AT HOME"

Miss Frank Orchard's Entertainment at Residence on River Street.

A delightful autumn afternoon was spent by thirty guests at the "at home" given by Mrs. Frank Orchard, at her residence on River street yesterday.

Ping pong was introduced as the chief diversion, and there were many features significant of the game, the invitations, tally cards, etc. The latter were miniature pasteboard racquets, hand-painted. The tallies were not punched, but marked by pasting a small red ping pong ball in the center of the racquet. The effect was quite striking.

There were two tables in play, keen interest and a sharp competition being maintained, as the prizes were worthy trophies. A number were tied for first prize, which was drawn by lot and won by Miss Alice Rushleigh. The prize was a pretty Brookwood vase. The hobby prizes were ping pong whisk holders.

A delicious luncheon of bouillon, chicken, aspic jelly, potato rösti, olives, sandwiches and ice cream, followed the contest. The serving was at ten tables. One was decorated in lavender, and held a huge vase of chrysanthemums. The candelabra had lavender shades. The other table was in pink, carnations decorating it. A parody on the guessing contest was an amusing diversion after luncheon. The guests had a most hospitable and charming hostess in Mrs. Orchard.

CURING CONSUMPTION.

When Scott's Emulsion makes the consumptive gain flesh it is curing his consumption.

Exactly what goes on inside to make the consumptive gain weight when taking Scott's Emulsion is still a mystery.

Scott's Emulsion does something to the lungs too that reduces the cough. More weight and less cough always mean that consumption is losing its influence over the system.

Scott's Emulsion is a reliable help.
